

You've Changed

1 BEFORE LISTENING

A. Read about a woman named Misuk.

Misuk used to live in South Korea, but now she lives in the United States. Her life in the United States is very different from her life in South Korea. She used to live in a big city. Now she lives in a small town. She used to take the subway to work. Now she drives a car. She used to live with her parents. Now she lives with two roommates.

Think about the expression "used to." When do you use it? Talk it over with the class. Then complete the sentence below. Write your answer on the line. Share your sentence with the class.

I used to _____, but now I _____.

(For example: I used to get up late, but now I get up early.)

B. You are going to hear a story about the man in the picture. Read the sentences below. If the sentence describes the man, circle T for true. If the sentence does not describe the man, circle F for false.

- | | | |
|-----------------------|------------------------------------|-------------------------|
| 1. He is thin. | <input checked="" type="radio"/> T | F |
| 2. He wears glasses. | T | <input type="radio"/> F |
| 3. He has black hair. | T | <input type="radio"/> F |
| 4. He is heavy. | T | <input type="radio"/> F |
| 5. He has gray hair. | T | <input type="radio"/> F |

Copyright © 2005 Pearson Education.
All rights reserved.
Permission granted to reproduce
for classroom use.

Just Joking:
Stories for Listening and Discussion
by Sandra Heyer